

INTERNATIONAL DONOR MILK CONFERENCE

Austin, Texas, April 20-21, 2020

CALL FOR POSTERS

Submit poster title, abstract and author information by January 31. Authors/presenters will be notified of their status by February 28. Submit here.

Posters not to exceed 48" h x 60" w. The abstract should contain a description of the subject matter or project, methodology, analysis, and results where applicable. Kindly limit the poster title to 15 words or less and abstract to 450 words or less. Please include the contact information for the individual submitting the poster abstract, as well as the full name of all authors and their institutional affiliations; including educational credentials, such is optional.

Poster authors/presenters must disclose any financial relationship with an entity with a commercial interest; funding sources for the work, if any, should be acknowledged. (Reference: Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) Standards of Commercial Support, August 2007 at www.accme.org).

We look forward to your abstract submissions for:

- Research reports: Presentations of original scientific data collected by author(s) or synthesis of research findings.
- Theory reports: Presentations of a theory, idea, concept, policy, socioeconomic issue, or model that describes a foundation for the practice of human milk banking.
- Special interest reports: Presentations of innovative concepts, ideas, projects, education, and processes that help meet the need for human milk.

Poster presenters must print their own posters and bring the posters to the conference. Your poster will be on display throughout the entire conference. Handouts and business cards are encouraged at poster displays. The official poster presentation will be held on Tuesday, April 21 from 12:00 to 1:30 pm. Please plan to be available at your poster during the poster session.

To submit information for a poster presentation for by January 31, 2020, please submit here. Authors/Presenters will be informed by February 28, 2020.

For additional information or questions please contact Kandis Natoli at knatoli@milkbankofflorida.org.